

Note from the Artistic Director published in our Final Concert's Program from Last Season

April 30th, 2011

Dear Community Patrons of the Arts,

This concert completes the 35th season of your community chorale. In that period, we performed our early December holiday concert with choral treasures from the southwest; sang famous operatic choruses in March at Nova's Ernst Theater; and tonight we are completing our musical journey with moving spirituals and choral works from some of America's most gifted songwriters. Throughout this season, the chorale has been blessed with strong audience attendance; the addition of some talented new singers who have replenished our ranks; and the energy of chorale members who not only learn challenging music but handle all the concert details that enable you to experience the joy of live choral music at a reasonable cost. Thank you for making all this possible.

In December, we continued the fine tradition of participating in the Messiah Sing-a-long concert at the Kennedy Center. Our outreach group continues to serve our community by singing in area nursing homes twice a month. This season's concerts included the NOVA Annandale Chorale. I hope you enjoyed hearing these young enthusiastic and talented singers.

I would invite you to consider becoming a regular choral patron and a season ticket holder next season. I think that we offer an excellent value. With your support, we can continue to bring exciting concerts to Northern Virginia. I look forward to seeing you at our concerts next season. Thank you for your continued support.

Robert S. Webb, Jr.

Artistic Director,

NVC (The Northern Virginia Chorale)
and NVCC Annandale Chorale